12 positions chopped at Minden MNR

by Andrew Milne

Twelve staff at the Minden office of the Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) received layoff notices last week.

"I figure it will mean a half-million dollar a year loss to the community," says union representative Ed Cyr.

The layoff reduces personnel at the Minden office by approximately a third, and virtually eliminates the technical staff.

Eleven of the twelve laid off were technicians, reducing their number from 15 to four.

Technicians are primarily field staff. They verify compliance with ministry-enforced environmental regulations, review zoning change applications, approve various licenses and permits, and do fieldwork such as wildlife population censuses.

One of the techs who received notice says the layoffs represent a complete change in the way the organization operates.

"It's changing," he says "from a field staff to a situation where your main equipment is a swivel chair, the telephone, fax machine, computer."

Technical staff who received layoff notices include Herb Roodenburg, Brant Jones, Carol Byers, Heidi Williams, Dave Leader, Ed Cyr, Bill Dehaan, Steven Devos, Dave Hamlin, John Almond, and James Munn.

The twelfth staff member laid off at Minden was clerk Josie Maybee.

A thirteenth staff member to receive notice, technician Kelly Newlands, was on secondment to the Tweed office of the MNR at the time.

There was a single layoff at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre, a teaching/training centre run by the MNR south of Dorset.

The Ministry of Environment and Energy (MOEE) office in Dorset has not yet received layoff notices. One staff member says the current rumour is that they'll hear officially this week.

STEPPIN' OUT: Running shoes were the footwear of choice Friday as citizens from throughout the area participated in Minden's annual Sneaker Day. Close to a hundred took part in the walk along the Gull River, benefiting from the exercise, but also reinforcing the idea that regular physical activity is a good way to maintain a healthy body.

"Everyone's on pins and needles," says one MOEE staff member, "just waiting to hear if they're on the list."

'There's a lot of shame involved'

Minden MNR staff interviewed refused to give the names of those laid off.

"There's a lot of shame involved in losing your job," says one of the technical staff, explaining their reluctance. "I think for a lot of us it's really demoralizing... We might have been doing this job for all of our lives, and each of us probably thinks what we're doing is something that matters, and now all of a sudden we're being told no, no one cares about that. That's not important. We don't do that any more."

Another source of reluctance is that it is not known for certain whether they are permanently laid off or if they're going to be able to 'bump' into another job. Staff members had until the end of last week to register a formal notice that they would be attempting to bump.

The bumping process will be complete after six weeks — approximately the end of June — at which point workers will know finally whether or not they still have a job with the MNR. Until that point, even those who haven't received notice will be waiting to hear if someone else will be bumping them.

However, one of those laid off, says the majority of staff in the Minden office has ten years or fewer experience with the organization, and at only ten years seniority, their chances of bumping anyone else are expected to be extremely limited.

Police nab pair after chase along Highway 503

Several charges have been laid following a police chase late Friday evening (May 10).

According to the police, Constable John McDougall stopped to check on a pick-up truck parked on Highway 503, east of Gooderham. As the officer stopped and turned on his roof lights, the vehicle sped away, travelling down a dead end cottage road. The officer followed the vehicle, until it sped by him in the opposite direction, forcing the cruiser into the ditch.

The pursuit continued in a westward direction on Highway 503 toward Kinmount. The actual chase was discontinued after the officer noted the vehicle being pursued at a high rate of speed was driving erratically. However, other police officers were notified and a road block was established at the stop sign in Kinmount.

The truck attempted to evade the road block at the intersection, going through the stop sign, striking a parked car and coming to rest against a building.

The two occupants fled on foot, but were quickly arrested by officers from the Minden and Coboconk detachments.

A subsequent investigation revealed that the vehicle had been stolen from the Durham region. A quantity of stolen property was found in the back of the truck.

Police have charge 24 year old Terry Varnum of Oshawa and 27 year old Ronald Dixon, of no fixed address, with a variety of offences relating to the incident, including possession of stolen property.

$10,000 break-in

An investigation is continuing into a break-in which occurred sometime between April 27 and May 10 at Redstone Lakeshore Estates north of West Guilford. The owner of the property, reported the break-in May 11, when he arrived at his property.

Taken in the break-in was a 1993 Suzuki LT-F ATV and trailer, a large quantity of entertainment equipment including a TV, VCR, stereo system, satellite equipment and liquor.

The value of the missing property was estimated at $10,000.

Older outboard motors taken

Police are investigating the theft of two outboard motors from a shed adjacent to a cottage on the Gull River near Norland. The theft was reported on May 12.

According to the police, the intruders made off with an older 25 hp Mercury outboard motor and an older 9.8

hp outboard motor. An older set of golf clubs was also removed from the shed.

Police estimate the value of the stolen property at $1000.

Chain saws removed

Police are investigating a break-in reported on May 11 on Concession 11, south of Kinmount.

Stolen from the cottage was a Stihl model FS56 gas trimmer; Stihl gas leaf blower; Makita compound chop saw with 10" blade; Stihl model 026 chain saw in an orange plastic case; Black and Decker belt sander, and two Arctic Cat snowmobile helmets (black with pink, purple and blue stripes.)

The value of the missing property was estimated at $2,200.

Equipment taken

An electric arc welder was taken from a garage south of Kirkfield according to the Coboconk OPP. The theft was reported on Monday May 6. Police also report that a Yamaha generator, model EF1600 was taken from a garage on Balsam Lake Dr. east of Kirkfield.

The stolen property has an estimated value of $2000.

Balsam Lake break-in Police are continuing the investigation into a break-in at a cottage on Cedar Point Road on Balsam Lake. Taken in the break-in, which was reported April 30, were: Craig double cassette CD radio; RCA model F20602SE colour TV. Citizen microwave oven; Concertmate 500 electric keyboard; GPX model KB898 electric keyboard; Weedeater leaf blower; Black and Decker hedge clippers; Stevens 12GA bolt action shot gun; Homelite 16 inch chain saw; Craftsman 7" skill saw; Mastercraft belt sander and a small amount of jewellery.

No value of the stolen property was indicated.

Break, enter and theft

The investigation continues into a break-in at a cottage on Highway 503 west of Norland. The incident was reported May 4.

Taken in the break-in were an RCA Colour-Trax TV, RCA VHS VCR, Sanyo microwave oven and a man's 21 speed blue mountain bike.

No value for the stolen property was given.

Conference challenges stigma attached to mental illness

"For those who have never had any contact — any real, personal contact with someone who is seriously mentally ill — they haven't got a clue."

"I often remembered over the years, going to a funeral parlour and saying I'm sorry, I know how you feel. And you don't have a clue how they feel, and what all this entails. So it is with mental illness."

Gloria Weight, a former teacher living in Norland, whose daughter was diagnosed as manic depressive in her early-teens, spoke last week on what it's like to have someone with a serious mental illness in the family.

Weight — along with daughter Bess Cox, who was diagnosed with the illness around the age of 14 — spoke at a conference organized by Cox and a group of users of the mental health system. The Haliburton County Mental Health Support Group arranged the May 16 event to increase awareness of mental health issues.

Weight's presentation — detailed, personal, emotional and moving — painted a picture of a warm, close-knit family, with intimate ties to the small community from which it grew, painfully affected by a child's illness and the community's response to it.

The stigma associated with mental illness, says Weight, put members of the family under severe stress and severed many of their connections to the community. Though many people were wonderfully supportive, willingly taking care of her daughter to give the family rest, others were less so.

Says Weight, "We were a hospitable family. I liked to cook. Our door was always open. We had a lot of friends... But some people just stopped coming by.

"I didn't have anyone to talk to except my doctor. He was a very understanding doctor, and he gave me much support. But you couldn't talk to anyone. Of course, they were quite willing to listen to the seamy side of affairs — the gossiping things — but they didn't really care."

A number of times during her address, Weight had to stop, apologizing as her voice thickened with emotion, as tears rose to her eyes. She seemed to hesitate, working gently around the point before starting again to talking about the more painful moments.

One of these was her daughter's first manic episode.

"One day," said Weight, "there was a knock on my classroom door, and the principal and a spare teacher arrived. They said come quickly, your daughter needs to go to the hospital... This was the first of many, many, many occasions — when my teenage daughter went berserk in the cafeteria of the high school in which I was teaching. Where she had brothers and sisters attending."

Cox, who spoke after Weight, stressed the importance of having support available for people with mental illnesses, and, again, on the injury done by the stigma associated with conditions such as her own.

"I'm lucky. When I needed help, help was found. It wasn't available, but it was found. The proper medication has kept me stable. I am a wife — to a wonderful man, a mother — to two very beautiful children, a part-time employee, a volunteer on several committees, and I walk proud when I go down the street, and I don't care who knows I have a mental illness. I live a very full and

"Some of you said to me the other day 'You know, I couldn't get up and say what you're saying, because I don't think I want other people knowing I have a mental illness.' Well, I'm glad you asked me, because I can get up here and say what you need to say on your behalf... There are a lot of people in Haliburton County who are not as lucky as I am. This message is for them. Serious mental illness is a disease. There is no stigma, for those of us who have accepted it."

June Partridge, chair of the Haliburton County Mental Health Support Group, spoke last. She outlined the group's framework for services for the county.

The conference was organized with the assistance of Dr. Bennet Wu of Minden.

Winners named in 'People's Choice' awards

The Agnes Jamieson Gallery's annual members' show People's Choice awards were presented Saturday.

A number of artists new to the show were represented among the winners.

Winners in the painting category were: John Lennard's "Winter Trail" (1st), Marion Hill's "Wild Lupins" (2nd), and Sharon Hill's "Life and Death" (3rd).

Fabric art winners were Shirley Gibson's "Above the Dam" (1st) and Eleanor Bunker's "A Family Tradition".

First in Multi-media went to Paul Rolfe's "Box #400". Doreen Berry's "Oval Vine Table" and Karl Hamilton's "Ocean" tied for second.

Best of show went to Merv Bunker, for his scale model of the Boshkung school.

Bunker has been creating scale models of local historical buildings for years, and winning best of show at the members' competition for years. The Boshkung school, on which this year's winning entry is based, SS#3, was erected at the junction of the Buckslide Road and Buttermilk Falls Road in 1905.

Lennard, the winner in the painting category, is an oils artist, and a regular at the Gallery.

Gibson works in Japanese Bunka Shi-Shu, a form of embroidery. Her work is known in the region, but this was the first time she participated in the members' show.

Rolfe, a Stanhope wood carver, built "Box #400" from a burl of hard maple.

Hill was also showing at the members' show for the first time. Her works this year were primarily in pastel. "Life and Death" depicts a mountain lion killing a mule deer.

Job search takes many out of the province

One technician requesting a search for a position outside the area says he was doing so — even though he expects his chances of getting another position within the ministry as 'slim' — primarily because it only makes sense to try all options. But he isn't counting on anything.

He said, "I'm exercising that right because it will not exclude me from a benefit package should I decide to leave later, if they don't identify a position. So I'm going to see. If they come up with something, well then great, maybe I still have a job. But even then, even if they identify a position and I move into it, I may still get bumped out of that."

He has a family to support, he says, and the layoffs come hard to all of them.

"The benefit packages that have been offered will kind of keep people for the short term while they look for other opportunities, while they search other job prospects. But there is nobody in this office without dependants and mortgages and that sort of thing."

Moving on to other work — often in other provinces — is going to be the goal for many of them. But, says a technician who's been with the MNR for close to a decade, moving out of the county he and his family have become part of, and possibly leaving a career into which he's put years of his life doesn't come easy.

"For most of us," he says, "we're losing a career. We're not just losing a job. This is something that most of us have been raised and trained to do. We have an appreciation for resources. That's why we got into this field. We went to school in this field. That's the hard part."

Says another, who has family in the area, "I applied for one job that was in BC — in forestry, and I didn't quite make it. But I'm not done with BC yet. And there's an awful lot of people who are looking fairly far and wide to be able to stay in the discipline that they're in with natural resources... But I'm not happy leaving."

Staying with the MNR, he says, however, is a less than attractive option now.

"There are a number of people — and I'm one of them — who, although they're throwing their hat in the ring and seeing if there's a position they can bump into, they're doing it with some hesitancy. I'm not sure that this is the outfit that I want to work for any more. Most of the work will be done from behind a desk. And that's not why I took forestry. That's not why I took a job with the Ministry of Natural Resources.

"Probably the province is going to lose a little bit of expertise. Some of it's going to go to the private sector — and there's nothing wrong with that — or it's going to go out of the province. I know people who have already accepted positions in other provinces."

Self-regulation

The cuts came as a surprise to many, say the technicians, because of the depth and concentration on their own discipline. Technicians, they say, are taking the brunt of the cuts, probably primarily because the ministry is moving to get out

Weather-worn barn a favourite with painters

Highway 35 landmark destined for demolition

by Andrew Milne

A Minden landmark is headed for demolition.

The picturesque barn on the Highway 35 bypass — once part of the sprawling Wilson farm on which much of the town is built — has been condemned.

Anson, Hindon and Minden building inspector Doug Schell says the structure's foundation has large cracks running through it, and part of one of the supporting walls is missing.

The structure's demolition is the responsibility of its owner, Patricia White, who purchased the land on which it stands.

The barn was erected on the site around 1920, moved there from nearby by its new owner Frank Gartshore. He had purchased the property from former owner Frank Wilson.

Says Dick Kirkwood, a Minden resident who was present at the time, "When he bought that property, the barn was out next to the street. Then there were stables built around it for the horses and the cattle. He wanted it all under one roof, so he had the stone foundation built, and the barn torn down and rebuilt and put on the foundation. I was a young lad of about 14 at the time, and was there at the barn raising... I was on the south end of the barn, and I handed up the boards for the men to put on the frame."

Kirkwood said he isn't sure when the barn was built on its original site. He remembers reading a reference to the Wilson farm that dates to 1905. How much earlier they were there he couldn't say.

The barn raising, said Kirkwood, was a big community event. He guessed maybe 20 people were present.

Said Kirkwood, "The neighbours came from miles around and helped to do the work. First the frame went up, and then the lumber was nailed on, and so on."

Kirkwood said he remembers the process of raising the frame and fastening it together with the carved wooden pins. "I'd stand down below and throw the pin up to someone on the frame. He'd catch it, take his mallet, and drive it in place."

The whole process, he said, took one day, though there might have been some roofing work done the day after. "A lot of people had to leave and go home to do their chores. And a lot of them lived seven miles out, a long way in a horse and buggy or team and wagon."

Kirkwood says he worked on the farm for three years after that, for Gartshore.

"Frank Gartshore was the head man for the Gull River Lumber Company up in this country... buying logs and looking after the lumber camps and so forth... He was away most of the time. But I did a lot of cadging for him. If they wanted a bunch of boom chains up at West Guilford to bring the drive down, he'd have me take a load of chains up, to be dumped off up there wherever the drive was going to start the next spring. He had his own team, and he kept me busy cadging, except for the summertime when I was home on the farm all the time."

"I'm sorry it's going to be torn down. I spent so many days around that place."

The barn is a favourite subject for paintings and photographs by local artists and those visiting the area. During the summer in particular, artists can often be seen at the edge of the highway with their brushes, palettes and easels capturing the texture and character of the structure on canvass. For many travelling north to their cottage, the barn and the horses, which, until recently, were kept there, were a familiar landmark on their journey.

Says Ruth Amos of Minden's Agnes Jamieson Gallery, "I think it's particularly a favourite for watercolourists — barn board is something that really lends itself to watercolour."

White, who owns the land now, had been planning to erect a seniors' complex on the site. The project, on the drawing board in the mid-80s, did not get past the planning stage.

(The barn is featured in a photo layout on the opposite page.)

Chamber predicts economic upswing this summer

The following items were discussed at last Wednesday's Haliburton County Council meeting:

Chamber report

Brian Dean, executive director of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce presented his annual report to county council. He assured council that its money is being well spent. He termed the money received from the county as a contract to provide marketing services for the county.

"The Chamber of Commerce is working toward a balanced budget," Dean stated.

Dean said that the Chamber is marketing the services of county businesses at several events, citing as examples, Maple Fest, the Sled Dog Derby and the Studio Tour.

The Chamber hired two full-time employees in August of 1995 to help cope with the work load.

Dean said the 1-800 telephone line has resulted in more than 6,000 enquiries in one year. He added that 250 tourism related calls per day are received.

More good news is the fact that the economy is showing the first positive signs in a long time.

"More people are committed to spending time in Haliburton County," he said. And those people are planning to stay longer.

"Businesses should do very well this year," Dean added.

Real estate agents are experiencing an increase in enquiries about cottage properties, another indication of an upswing in the economy.

The down side is that the Chamber's funding from the provincial government is being cut dramatically. It will drop to less than 25 per cent of previous levels -- from $110,000 to $24,500.

Another situation that is holding the county back, in terms of influx of potential residents is the medical care dilemma.

"The hospital situation is a deterrent to getting people to settle here," Dean explained.

Restructuring is also a concern. Dean pointed out that businesses and individuals have noted their concern about "where the county is going regarding township councils." The uncertainty of how they will be governed at the local level is disturbing to some.

In closing, Dean told council members the Chamber is willing to work with them.

Councillor Jeanne Anthon submitted a detailed report on a symposium on civic addressing for 9-1-1, which was held in Peterborough in mid-April.

Topics of the symposium included civic addressing for shorelines/ lakes and islands, fire dispatch, MTO signage policy, Ministry of Solicitor General involvement, sign making tender procedures and private roads. In addition, Anthon included county reports from Victoria, and Bruce.

A number of resources are available from other districts which have initiated the civic addressing process. For example, Muskoka Lakes township has developed a complete island addressing book. But, even with addressing on islands, owners of island cottages must expect the worst if a fire occurs. Response time is greatly increased by the need to transport equipment and personnel by boat to the scene.

Bruce county has developed special civic addressing computer software which is adaptable to expected changes through restructuring.

Nick Hewko, 9-1-1 systems advisor for the Ministry of the Solicitor General, strongly advised that 9-1-1 be delayed until after restructuring and amalgamation are completed. He said that 84 per cent of the population has access to 9-1-1 service, but only 22 per cent of the geographic area is served by 9-1-1.

Victoria County's 9-1-1 by-law states that the civic address sign must not be moved or altered. Counties or municipalities also have the option of stating in their by-law that the sign may not be framed with decorative materials, such as wrought iron. Landscaping near signs is also discouraged because of the possibility of obstructing the view to emergency personnel.

Victoria County officials pointed out that signing on mobile homes and in trailer parks can be a problem. A one-sided sign is being developed for mounting on the units.

Anthon reports that Bruce County has done some "interesting and effective field work and cross-referencing" in regard to mapping and numbering.

Anthon noted that none of the counties represented at the symposium had completed civic addressing. Victoria County has sign-making and lettering machines that could be borrowed or rented by Haliburton County when the need arises.

Learning from the mistakes of other areas which are further along in the 9-1-1 implementation process will help Haliburton avoid the pitfalls when it is ready to set the wheels in motion.

Health unit

Councillor Keith Tallman's report on the Health Unit was a bleak one. He said it is $40,000 over budget and faces a $16,000 reduction in funding.

The Ministry of Health is suggesting that the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit amalgamate with the Peterborough City/County Health Unit. Tallman said he would consider such an amalgamation a "hostile takeover" by the Peterborough unit.

"Peterborough doesn't have any satellite services," Tallman explained. "I'm

Unseen progress

For many, it may be hard to see, but the management of health services in the county has made some significant progress since the formation of the Acting Health Services Board in September 1994. And this has moved the community closer to the control of its own health resources, for the betterment of all concerned.

We bring this fact to the fore here, because it is often lost in what appears to be endless rounds of bickering, in-fighting and seemingly little progress. In fact a great deal has been accomplished in the past one and a half years. While for some, the movement has been neither fast nor decisive enough, for any new body entrusted with an entirely new set of responsibilities the first steps are always tentative and slow.

The Board's growth has also been affected by the change in government and subsequent change in health policy. As well, the board finds itself struggling under a fiscal regime that does little to speed decision making. While the new administration in Queen's Park has been supportive of the board's efforts, there have been abrupt about-face decisions and a curious inability by the bureaucrats to allow the board to be creative within its broad frame of reference. The change of direction chosen by county council for Hyland Crest management provided another dislocation to the planning process.

However, there is still a great deal for which the board members, past and present, can be proud. This month alone, the board moved from an acting body to full incorporation and in a week's time will formally take over the ownership and management of the county's two medical facilities.

Undoubtedly, there will be more rough times ahead. Decisions will rarely come with ease. But we see in the board, a new sense of maturity, a search for direction that should lead to a health system that meets the needs of all the residents served by the corporation. The board is moving into an new era when plans will reach fruition and hours of hard work will start to show results. It won't be an easy road, but we believe it will be one with greater satisfaction and rewards. We wish the board well.

Rights for all

Editor:

In last week's edition of The Times (May 13), federal MP John O'Reilly tried to justify his position on extending human rights protections to gays and lesbians by saying he was reflecting the opinions of his constituents. But every poll taken of Canadian opinion on this issue has shown the overwhelming majority, including most of those who live in rural areas like this one, favour such civil rights measures. Many of the most vocal DO oppose equal rights, but gauging public opinion by those who speak most aggressively on an issue is a curious way of taking the pulse of a constituency.

Even if a majority of the people in Victoria Haliburton were to oppose equal rights, would that justify denying them those rights? Of course not!

The whole point of civil rights laws is to protect people against discrimination on the part of majorities as well as the most obviously bigoted members of society.

Public School Boards are firm Classroom education must not be affected

(From a press release issued by the Ontario Public School Boards' Association.)

Ontario's public school boards will be vigilant to ensure that the provincial government's plan to cut its income tax rate by 30 percent over three years is not achieved at the expense of students as well as education employees and local property taxpayers, says Sharon Summers, vice president of the Ontario Public School Boards' Association and a trustee on the Victoria County Board of Education.

"Despite public school boards' efforts to manage the province's funding cuts in a way that minimizes the impact on the students, employees and taxpayers, the cuts are affecting classroom education," says Summers. "This is because the provinces' tools provided to the boards, don't come close to offsetting the province's $400 million cuts to schools this year."

According to the Ministry of Education and Training figures, 95 percent of education dollars is spent on salaries and services to support classroom education. "It should come as no surprise, then, that the province's cut in its share of education funding by nine percent is affecting classroom education," says Summers. "By law, and because they are responsible to taxpayers, Ontario public school boards have always balanced their budgets. They don't think it's fair that the provincial government is dumping its debt problem on local communities, at the expense of the students.

Summers suggested that a $1000 tax credit for corporations which hire post secondary students in co-operative education programs be extended to secondary school students in similar programs. And, she said that the province's $40 million contribution to expand computer technology in schools is a good beginning. "Many more dollars are needed to fully equip classrooms with today's technology."

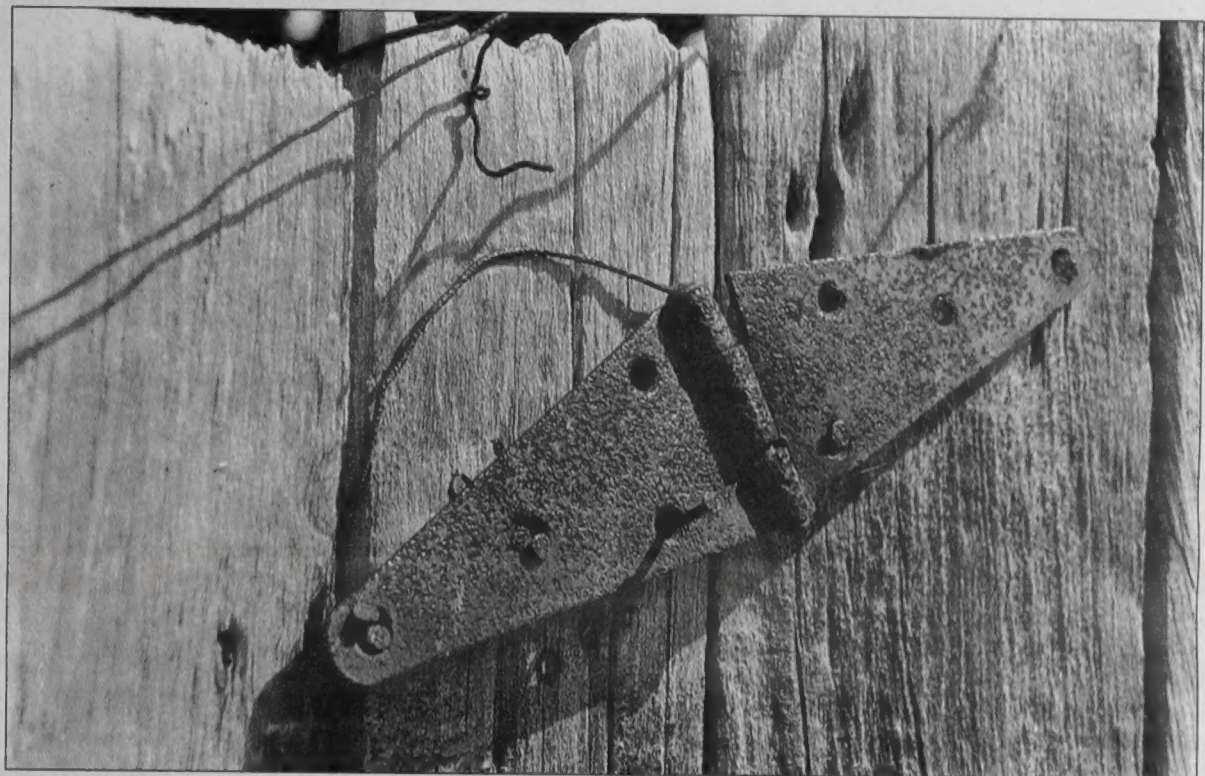

Regardless, Ontario's public school boards are committed to sorting out the division of responsibilities between school boards, municipalities and the provincial government, as alluded to in the recent Ontario budget, and want to be part of this process.

"This increase is a good idea, and one which we have long called for. In their submission to the Royal Commission on Learning three years ago, Ontario's public school boards called for a new Education Act which spells out the responsibilities and accountability mechanisms of school boards, the Ministry of Education and Training educators, parents, students and others involved in the province's school system."

"We will have to make sure that any changes to education finance coming out of such a review are in the best interests of the students and the local taxpayers," says Summers.

Hacking through the English jungle

A Frenchman walking the streets of London was trying his darndest to learn English. He had just got his mind around the notion that the words through, rough, cough, hiccough, plough and thought are all pronounced differently. Then he looked up and saw a movie marquee that read: "Lion King pronounced success."

The Frenchman gave up and went back to Marseilles.

Well, it's a confusing tongue we speak, to be sure. Perhaps that is why so many other languages imitate it. There is French of course, but there is also Franglais (or Frenglish, if you prefer). Likewise, you can speak Japlish, Dutchlish, Hindlish, Indolish, Italglish, Russlish, Spanglish and Swedlish—not to mention a whole flock of English dialects. In the Solomon Islands Prince Phillip is known as "White fella him blong Queen."

English is not the most spoken language on the planet—Mandarin is. But English is undoubtedly the fastest growing tongue. A bully language, insinuating its way into other tongues and cultures. Thus, Cuban World Series wannabes play el besbol and Parisians dine on les hot dogs. Russians covet denim blujinns and in Japan a business executive is known as a sarariman—which is as closed as you can get to 'salaried man).

There is another form of language that might be called "broken English". This is the English that is spoken—and written—by people who haven't quite mastered the nuances of our mother tongue.

There is, for instance, a paragraph in a brochure, from a car rental firm in Tokyo that advises: "When passengers of foot heave in sight, tootle the horn. Trumpet at him melodiously at first, but if he still obstacles your passage, then tootle home with vigour."

An elevator in a hotel in Belgrade bears a sign that reads. "To move the cabin, push button for wishing floor. If the cabin should enter more persons, each one should press number of wishing floor. Driving is then going alphabetically by national order."

In Oslo Norway, there is a cocktail lounge which sports a sign advising its clientele that, "ladies are requested not to have children in the bar." Similarly, a hotel in the Austrian Alps asks skiers, "not to perambulate the corridors in the hours of repose in boots of ascension."

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

The door of every hotel room in a hostelry in Osaka, Japan reads:

"It is forbidden to steal the hotel towels please. If you are not person to do such thing, is please not to read notis."

The assembly instructions that come with an Italian-made baby carriage read: "Insert the blushing for blocking in the proper split. Push it deeply and wheel in anti-time sense til it stops."

Travellers who pass through the Copenhagen airport are not likely to feel relieved after they have read the sign over one airline's ticket office that assures them, "We take your bags and send them in all directions."

And, I don't think I'd care to have my teeth checked by the Hong Kong dentist whose advertisement says, "Teeth extracted by the latest Methodists."

On the other hand, if it is a walk on the wild side you are looking for, you might consider spending a night in a Yugoslavian hotel which boasts, "the flattening of underwear with pleasure is the job of the chambermaid." Or the Rome laundry where a sign says, "Ladies leave your clothes here and spend the afternoon having a good time."

Or, by way of equal time, the Bangkok Dry Cleaners that proclaims, "Drop your trousers here for best results."

Or the Zurich hotel which notifies its customers, "Because of the impropriety of entertaining guests of the opposite sex in the bedroom, it is suggested that the hotel lobby be used for this purpose."

Ah yes. The English language may be powerful and popular, but that doesn't mean it can't be treacherous.

As the English-as-a-second-language student found out when he wrote an essay which included the sentence: "The girl tumbled down the stairs and lay prostitute at the bottom." His professor's correction in the margin read:

"My dear sir, you must distinguish between a fallen woman and one who has merely slipped."

Chamber News

by Connie Sims

Hello again, members and business associates. I know everyone is busy preparing for the upcoming summer season. After the long, cold winter, it hasn't been easy to get things back in shape.

Brian Dean, our general manager, told me snowflakes were in the air on his drive home from an Area 5 meeting May 13 in Belleville! Hum Bug!

We are attempting to meet quarterly with our MPP, the Minister of Natural Resources, Chris Hodgson to keep up-to-date on provincial matters. This past week, on May 13, we were able to schedule an impromptu meeting at Hart Lodge to hear Chris explain the new budget brought down on May 10. Thirty-seven members and guests were able to attend this breakfast meeting. The question and answer period proved to be very productive following the minister's presentation.

Hopefully, in the future, the province will consider more tourism funding to attract American visitors to Central Ontario. Local merchants are reminded to pay a fair market value on the American dollar. This amount can be easily verified daily with a telephone call to your local bank. Let's keep our American cousins happy.

We have so much on our plate at the Chamber of Commerce, we'll call it a platter...it boggles the mind!

Hundreds of calls are coming in for summer events, attractions and accommodations each week and our staff is busy mailing out responses to information requests.

We are also regularly receiving an ever increasing number of inquiries from individuals interested in Haliburton County as a potential home for their businesses. We, of course, redirect the inquiries to the Haliburton County Development Corporation. Five new businesses have started up recently in the county. We wish each of them success.

Plans are in the works to attend the 18th annual Haliburton Home and Vacation Show, being held May 31-June 1. Do stop by our booth and say "hello". Our 16 foot Langford canoe will be on display. Tickets are $2 each or 3 for $5.

Our fund-raising committee, spearheaded by Marion Teatro, is very busy finalizing plans for an elegant dinner/dance at PineStone Resort and Conference Centre, October 18. It will be a gala affair with a live band, 17 members featuring Don Pierre and the Canadian All Stars. They play Glenn Miller classics. I can hardly wait! I know for sure, the band members will be wearing tuxedos. There will be a hidden surprise for each person attending the dinner/dance.

Getting back to reality, the Haliburton Economic Development Corporation is offering training opportunities in Community Economic Development, Leadership and Strategic Planning beginning May 27 and for two consecutive Monday evenings at Wig-A-Mog Inn. I hope many of you will take advantage of these important workshops as they will definitely educate us as we enter the twenty-first century, which is closing in on us more quickly than we think. The cost is $5 for one session or $10 for all three.

I am happy to report that eight new businesses have joined the Chamber of Commerce since my last column. Our membership continues to grow monthly. Thirty-eight percent of the registered business in the county belong to the Chamber, which is well above the provincial average.

A new marketing effort with Rock 95 in Barrie will begin May 24 for the next 52 weeks. On Thursday evenings, at 6:30 p.m., local news, sports and activities of Haliburton County will be featured.

Planning is being finalized for a major draw event for 1996-97. I will keep you informed in future columns, as we have to raise more revenue, so that we can increase our efforts to market this wonderful area to the rest of the world. Let us know of any ideas you may have for raising revenue for the Chamber.

Our next business to business meeting will be June 5 at Hart Lodge, starting at 6 p.m. The sponsor for this event will be Carnarvon Building Supplies Ltd. Look for the Chamber advertisements in the local newspapers.

Until next time, D.V. and W.P. (Deo Volente and weather permitting).

New manager at PineStone Resort

Don Crowe, right, president of the Board of Directors of PineStone Resort and Conference Centre chats with the new general manager of the Highlands resort, Andrew (Andy) Frappier. The appointment of the new general manager was made at the Board of directors meeting held May 13.

Frappier comes to PineStone with a long history of hotel management experience. He is a graduate of Seneca College of Applied Arts and Technology in Business Administration and has additional training acquired in Los Angeles, California.

Frappier has held positions in all aspects of hotel management at the Carleton Inn International, the Best Western Carleton Place Hotel, The Best Western Walper Terrace Hotel and the Skyline Hotel, to mention a few. The new manager has a strong commitment to the community and is involved with minor hockey and the Rotary Club. He is also a public member of the College of Dietitians of Ontario. In his spare time he enjoys skiing and travelling with his wife, Vicki. They have one son, Stephen.

Frappier said he is looking forward to managing the resort and is very impressed with the dedication and interest the staff takes in the operation of the resort. "I am happy to be here," he commented. "I am looking forward to the challenges this opportunity provides."

HHSS senior girls soccer team showing improvement

by Stacey Bunn

The season got under way for the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School senior girls soccer team May 8 when the girls travelled to Bethany for their first games.

Under the hot sun, they showed their stuff in a hard fought battle with the I.E. Weldon Wildcats of Lindsay.

The Weldon squad came up with an early goal and went on to score three more in the first half. The Haliburton team shut the competition down in the second half, but Weldon remained in front 4-0 at the end of the game.

There was no stopping or looking back for the Haliburton girls as they attacked Bethany in their second game. The game was dominated by the Haliburton team, with an all out effort by everyone. The local girls had many scoring opportunities and with a goal by Nicole Graham, Haliburton won the game by a 1-0 margin.

The Haliburton girls started May 13 off early, taking to the field at Weldon, in Lindsay for their second day of competition, making up the two earlier scheduled games that were postponed due to rain and poor field conditions.

The girls played their most challenging games of the season. Not only did they have the other team to contend with, but also the wind and snow.

The first game was against the LCVI Spartans, and it was an evenly fought match. With the wind blowing in their favour, the Spartans got an early goal.

The Haliburton girls fought hard, but were unable to get the ball into the LCVI net. The Spartans added one more, for a 2-0 victory.

After a short break, the Haliburton girls took to the field again. This time they faced the Fenelon Falls Falcons.

After a very hard fought battle, Haliburton was defeated 3-0.

Half way through the short season at that point, the Haliburton team was showing some great improvement.

Back at home last Wednesday (May 15) our Haliburton team showed once again that it is a strong force. The opening game for the girls started under a hot noon sun as they battled against Fenelon Falls. With the school out for lunch and cheering the girls on, the players coupled strong play with a great team effort to hold the score to 1-0, for the opposition.

When our second game began at 3:30, we faced the strongest team in the league, I.E. Weldon. The Haliburton girls played their best, but Weldon dominated the first half and held a 4-0 lead at half time.

Haliburton played an even stronger second half, keeping the Weldon girls from adding to their lead. The final score was 4-0.

Coach Dibblee said she is proud of the team.

"The players play hard from the first whistle to the last," she said. "Our team has the determination to overcome some pretty major obstacles."

Sign up for Jenna Tompkins Memorial Slo-Pitch Tourney

The tragic loss of seven year-old Jenna Tompkins' life in a horseback riding accident last summer has prompted friends of the family to organize the Jenna Tompkins Memorial Slo-Pitch Tournament.

"The community really rallied around the family in a time of need and we thought we'd try to give something back," said organizer Bev Covello.

The accident happened on a trail south of Kinmount, when a motorcycle spooked the horse she was riding. Jenna's grandparents are Lou and Laurel Tompkins of Twelve Mile Lake.

The tournament, which is set for Saturday, June 22 at the Minden ball park, will be a fund-raiser for the Minden Hospital Building Fund. The entry fee will be $250 and Covello says she hopes to have at least 16 teams for the event. It will be a mixed tournament, each team consisting of five men and five women.

Entry forms are available in Minden at Bernie Nicholls Sports (Spot 97) and in Haliburton at Glen Sharpley Sports. Cutoff date for entries is June 8.

Organizers will also have a beer garden and barbecued hot dogs and hamburgers.

If your team would like to participate in this tournament in memory of Jenna Tompkins and help raise money for the Minden Hospital Building Fund, contact Bernie Nicholls Sports at 286-4110 or Glen Sharpley Sports at 457-3933. Organizer Bev Covello can be reached at 905-607-1464 for further information.

50 HHSS athletes qualify for COSSA track meet

by Kevin Brezina

The HHSS Track and Field team travelled to St. Peter's Secondary School in Peterborough on Thursday, May 16 to compete in the Kawartha meet. For the first time in recent memory, the weather was somewhat cooperative, and competitors were more than happy to soak up some sun as the day progressed. Haliburton was the big winner of the day with 21 first place finishes, sending more than 50 athletes to COSSA next week, and unofficially winning the meet.

Special mention should go to Mike Bradley, who broke the Kawartha record in the junior boys 100 metre dash with a time of 11.0 seconds, and Kate Campbell who broke both the midget girls 100m dash and 80m hurdles records with times of 12.7 seconds and 12.1 seconds respectively.

MNR technicians wonder whether self-regulation will protect the resources of the regulation/enforcement business.

Said one, "You no longer require permits for a number of things you had to have a permit for in the past. People are now expected to regulate themselves... There's now no watchdog out there. And that was a big part of our jobs — compliance monitoring — with regard to work that people do on lakes, cottage lots, logging companies who are building roads."

Apart from losing their jobs, he said, the move to self-regulation has a lot of technicians worried. As much as some people and some sectors will probably be quite scrupulous about their use of natural resources, some may be less so.

"In some cases," he said, "it's giving the key to the henhouse to the fox. It's not a separate entity any more that's looking after those interests. It's the users themselves. There are regulations and there are processes in place to see that those resources won't get abused, but I don't think everybody is totally confident that it's going to work that well. There's going to be a lot of instances where things can be gotten away with."

There are some, he says, who will try to get around the rules even now.

"There's people that wait until after dark to move that log or do things that we may or may not approve, if they came to us for a permit. Sometimes it's stuff that isn't damaging, sometimes it is. But the reason for the process was so that we had the opportunity to comment on it, so that when we did, these activities would not harm the resource. And we've lost that now. It's the same thing in timber management. We would go out and mark the timber. We'd do cut inspections to see to it that what they were removing was done properly and that they were not taking more than they should. We don't have that any more."

"I don't think that the user groups of all these resources are ready for this. It's too quick a shift from one hand to another... I think some of the activities that we're handing over — some of the field work — should maybe be kept... I think some of the ideas they have for changes are good, and the principles are sound, but I think a lot of things are going to be left in the air, and I think there are going to be a lot of problems going from this way of doing things to a new one."

MNR district manager Stan Flemming says the cuts will obviously make a major difference in the office, but he can only wait and see what the full impact will be. New priorities, he said, will have to be set.

"Our ability to do a number of things will be significantly reduced," he said.

"We'll be busy trying to do what we can to keep things going... And we'll still have a presence here."

Flemming said the ministry will be relying on partnerships with the public, including organizations such as the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association.

The tree planting and fish stocking has been completed for this year, but other operations that have traditionally been done by MNR staff will be shelved unless volunteers can be recruited.

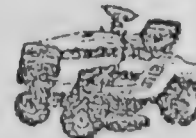

"It's a difficult time," Flemming said.

HHSS girls soccer team on the fly

GOOD EFFORT: The Haliburton senior girls soccer team played a strong game against the Fenelon Falls squad on home turf last Wednesday. The action was end to end, but when it was over the visitors had scored the lone goal of the game to edge the Haliburton team 1-0.

HHHS appointments

Ross Rabjohn and Elva Bates were appointed to represent Haliburton County council on the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Board.

Books in order

An audit of Haliburton County's books showed that "overall, administration has done an excellent job of getting the books in order," according to Wayne Carter of Humpage Taylor McDonald Chartered Accountants, the auditing firm.

Carter and Gillian Minshall presented several graphs showing the County's financial position.

Reserves was the only area where the auditors noted some improvements could be made.

Hyland Crest

Hyland Crest Committee chair Jack Mavor reported that with 25 per cent of the year past, Hyland Crest's financial statement shows that only 22.8 per cent of the budget has been spent.

Mavor said that John McLaughlin, president of Extencicare's Canadian operations, has submitted an assessment report for Hyland Crest. Mavor said that some changes in personnel are likely, but he reserved comment on the report until he has had time to study the document.

BACK TO THE '50s: Cast members from Harbour High pose for a promotional photo. The production will be at the Kinmount Community Centre June 1. Audience participation is a major factor in the popularity of this presentation.

Harbour High: The '50s dinner theatre comes to Kinmount on June 1

Dinner theatre is coming to Kinmount on Saturday, June 1.

KAMP (Ken Atkinson Musical Productions) will be presenting "Harbour High - the 50s", an audience participation production based on a 40th anniversary high school reunion of the 1950s.

The action begins as soon as the audience arrives," said Ken Atkinson, creator of the production (as well as two others).

Tickets for Harbour High are in the form of student cards and they must be presented at the door to be admitted. Atkinson says the event features an address by the principal, who was supposedly, the vice-principal back when the 40th anniversary revellers attended Harbour High. A valedictorian address is also on the agenda. Everything is set to 1950s music and Atkinson said there will be prizes for those who can identify five tunes in a row (song title and artist).

Patrons are encouraged to wear '50s costumes. Atkinson said his audiences really get into the mood during this birth-of-rock-and-roll era production; poodle skirts, black leather jackets and ducktail haircuts.

Activities for the evening also include a reunion queen contest, a special guest appearance by the local DJ, a floor show featuring the production's own singing stars, lots of dancing and a three course dinner.

1996 marks the 10th anniversary of Harbour High.

"The show is very successful," Atkinson said.

It runs for about three and a half hours, after which, patrons will have the opportunity to stay and dance until midnight or possibly a little later.

Atkinson is a full-time show business professional. He started more than 25 years ago as a dancer on such TV series as the Tommy Hunter, Bobby Vinton and Pig 'N Whistle shows as well as specials with Anne Murray, Wayne and Schuster and Alice Cooper. He has appeared on stage as an actor at the Charlottetown Festival, Stratford Festival, the Manitoba Theatre Centre and Winnipeg's Rainbow Stage.

Atkinson lives in Kirkfield and was resident choreographer at CTV from 1977 to 1981, where he worked on such productions as the Miss Canada and Miss Teen Canada pageants, Stars on Ice, Downright Disco and Circus.

Harbour High is one of three KAMP dinner theatre productions. His first was entitled Al Capone's Birthday and the third is Good Ole Bad Ole Days. All three of those productions have been presented in Haliburton County, at the Wigamog Inn and at PineStone Resort and Conference Centre.

The production in Kinmount features six cast members plus an audio technician and a stage manager.

Admission is $25 per person and tickets are available from Madeline Pearson (488-2217) or Diane Austin (488-2635). The doors to the Kinmount community Centre will open at 7 p.m., with the dinner and theatre action starting at 7:30.

what we have here is the ability to communicate

The Ministry of Natural Resources was using modern aviation technology to deliver splake fingerlings to 25 to 30 remote lakes in the northern part of the county. The helicopter is fitted with holding tanks which are filled with the young fish. The chopper hovers just over the surface of the lake and drops the young fish into the their new home.

If you or your family spend a large part of your income on prescription drugs, the Trillium Drug Program can help cover the cost. After you spend a certain amount (your "deductible") on prescription drugs each year, you will be eligible for the Ontario Drug Plan.

Your deductible is the amount your family must spend on prescription drugs before you can receive Ontario Drug Benefits. It is based on the number of people in your family and your family's net income.

This is the second year of the program. It begins April 1, 1996 and ends March 31, 1997. It is still possible to enrol in the Trillium Drug Program which ended on March 31, 1996. Applications must be submitted before May 31, 1996. The applicant will receive reimbursement for eligible prescription expenses.

Applications for the Trillium Drug Program are available at the Information Centre in Minden and Haliburton. Our staff will be happy to answer any questions you may have to assist in completing the application.

Do you have a question? Do you require support or assistance in accessing services? We can help. Contact your Haliburton County Information Centre Inc. In Haliburton the Centre is located on Maple Avenue, in the Drag River Building. Phone 705-457-2733. Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

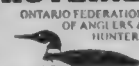

In Minden, the centre is located in the Court House Building, adjacent to the Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal Office. Phone 705-286-4100. Open (Mondays only) 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

On May 11, the Victoria District reception and banquet was held in Haliburton on the occasion of the one hundredth anniversary of Arcadia Lodge No. 440 of Minden and in honour of M.W. Bro. Durward I. Greenwood, Grand Master. In attendance were many past and present Grand Lodge Officers and Brethren from all parts of Ontario.

A fine group of Masons from Arcadia attended including W.M. Brian Austen, the longest standing member Earl Hewitt, the newest Master Mason Dwight Thomas and many others.

Award recognizes volunteers

Governor General Romeo LeBlanc is looking for caring Canadians. The Governor General has created a new national award to honour Canadian caregivers and volunteers. Now he is asking for help in finding them.

"I am asking citizens to nominate the most exemplary, dedicated and inspirational volunteers they know and we will decorate them at Rideau Hall and in ceremonies across the country. Volunteers have enriched the lives of every Canadian, and have asked nothing for themselves. Now we will honour the hidden helpers and the unsung heroes of Canada. It is time to give back something back to the givers," said the Governor General.

The name and logo of the new award were chosen by a jury of eminent Canadians from more than 1,000 entries submitted in a national contest held from November 1995 to this January. The name selected was the Governor General's Caring Canadian Award.

Rules for the new award are simple. First, it will recognize unpaid, voluntary contributions, generally carried out behind the scenes at the community level. Second, winners may have provided care to an individual, or support for a group or any other community service or humanitarian cause.

Third, they have served over several years or have made an extraordinary contribution of short duration. And fourth, they will not have been previously recognized at the federal or provincial level for their contributions.

If you know of someone who fits these criteria, write to: The Governor General's Caring Canadian Award, Rideau Hall, 1 Sussex Drive, Ottawa Ontario, K1A 0A1. Nomination forms are also available from Canada Post outlets or by calling toll-free 1-800-465-6890. It is expected that 100 awards will be presented in the first year.

Korean Vets honoured

The east/central zone of the Korean Veterans Association's Ontario Region held its annual honours and awards night last month at Coburg Royal Canadian Legion Branch 133. Members from the Lindsay Unit 71 and other units in the area attended.

About 200 members and their wives enjoyed an evening of socializing and reminiscing as well as an excellent dinner provided by the Ladies Auxiliary.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Distinguished Service Cross which was received by George Cameron of the Oshawa Unit (11). This is the top award conferred by the Korean Veterans Association, and looks much like the famed Victoria Cross. Mr. Cameron has held every top office in the association and has worked unceasingly for the benefit of all Korean vets.

The Lindsay unit which includes Haliburton County, is the Association's newest and has 44 members. The unit received the bulk of the awards with the following receiving the medal of merit for their work in starting the unit: Gerry Fontaine and Doug Louch of Lindsay and Ross McDonald and Bob Somers of Fenelon Falls.

The original nine members of the Lindsay Unit were awarded their charter bar. They included Ralph Boddington, Gerry Fontaine, Doug Louch, James Shows, Bob Somers, Don Stump, Harry Ward, Peter Walker and Bob Weaver. Recipients of the five year medal included Bob Somers and Peter Walker, while the ten year bar was presented to Alton Hall and Charles Viner. Charles Bruce, Gerry Fontaine and Ross McDonald all received the 15 year bar.

Following the awards ceremony, the seniors choir of the Port Hope Legion entertained with lusty renditions of old favourites.

Busy time as Ridgewood Public School marks Education Week

by Mary Kilby, Grade 7

As part of the Education week celebration, the Parent Volunteer Association held a barbecue for all the students and their families. Following the meal, the official opening of the new playground equipment took place. The equipment was purchased with funds raised by the parents' association. Everyone had a great time.

Cory Bassett keeps an eye on the cooking and the camera as Judy Blackmore and Rusty Caputo tend to the grill during the barbecue held in conjunction with Education Week at Ridgewood Public School in Coboconk.

The Book Fair, right, at Ridgewood was a popular spot with the students.

Education Week at Ridgewood Public School

by Shawna McGarvey, Grade 8

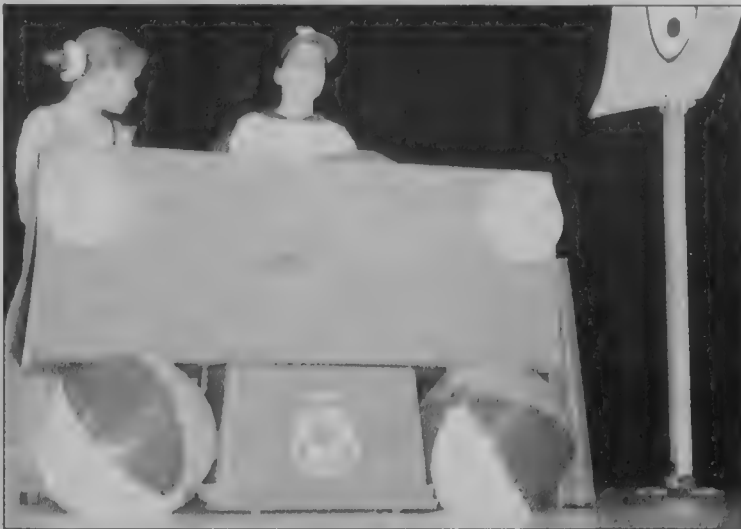

At Ridgewood Public School there was a variety show put on for Education Week. It all began at 5:30 p.m. with a small barbecue. Everyone then went into the music room to hear the choir's delightful songs. The numbers included 'The Tree Song', 'Be Our Guest', and 'Home'. These are all numbers from the stage production of Beauty and the Beast. Members of the choir travelled to Toronto on May 15 to attend a performance of the show.

Following the singing, the gymnasium filled with laughter as the Ridgewood Public School Variety Show was presented. The show included skits, monologues, a fashion show and other entertaining acts.

A special thanks goes out to the staff and students for the time and effort they put into the variety show.

Kelly Hall and Christa Goetz performed in the Variety Show.

by Katie Woodward, Grade 8

As part of the education week activities, four Fenelon Falls Secondary School students and Mr. LaClare, a referee, visited Ridgewood Public School. They demonstrated wrestling techniques and how a match is scored.

Eight Ridgewood students, who had received training, participated in a number of matches to the delight of the crowd.

"Wrestling is safe as long as you have proper training and know how to do it," said the Fenelon Falls referee. He said that wrestling is becoming a popular sport for both men and women.

Many of the grade eight students expressed a desire to join the wrestling team at Fenelon falls High School next year.

Following the matches, the four high school students answered questions.

Students from Fenelon Falls Secondary School wrestling team provided a demonstration of the sport during the Education Week activities at Ridgewood Public School in Coboconk.

Minden W.I. May meeting

On a lovely May 15th afternoon, 12 members of the Minden Women's Institute met at the Don Berry home, answering the roll call, "How We Cope with the Metric System"

Honoraria of $15 each were paid to the secretary Mary C. and treasurer, Mary W. for their splendid service over the past year. Irene Moore gave her report of sending 18 cards since the last meeting marking a variety of occasions. Collections were taken for Pennies for Friendship and Card Fund.

The planning meeting for programs for 1996-97 will be June 6 at 10 a.m. at the home of the president, Jean Cox.

Convenor Bea Berry then read an article on 'Stealing Nature's Secrets' and how these can be used in new ways. This was very interesting and brought us much new information. Next meeting is at the United Church Hall, Wednesday June 19. Several District Executive ladies are being invited. The meeting starts at noon with a pot luck luncheon. Please bring food and dishes, etc.

Following the adjournment, Irene auctioned off the plants brought to this meeting, and a social time followed with snacks served by the committee.

District Annual

Our branch convened the East Victoria District Annual at the Minden United Church on May 8. We all enjoyed hearing the students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School as they gave their speeches and stories. The noon buffet was catered by our members and our guests from other branches in the district enjoyed this meeting.

whose responsibilities include a governance role for the Branch's programs.

In addition to serving on the Board of Governors, individuals selected will be a member of either the Board's Finance Committee or Fundraising committee. All meetings are held in Peterborough.

VON is a non-profit, charitable, community health care organization dedicated to providing innovative, quality care to all regardless of their circumstances.

The Board of Governors, comprised of volunteer members, is guided in its decision about services and programs by the VON Mission Statement and Philosophy. Key points in the philosophy are:

- Individuals have primary responsibility for their own health care.
- The value and dignity of human life is respected.
- Access to comprehensive, compassionate, family and community centred health care is the right of all individuals, regardless of their ability to pay.
- Volunteers make a valuable contribution by extending and complementing the services provided by health professionals.
- Community services of assured quality are essential.

If you are an enthusiastic individual residing in Peterborough, Victoria or Haliburton County and wish to contribute your time and talent on the Board of Governors, please submit a resume by May 27th, 1996 to:

EXERCISE

(anonymous)

"When told by my Doctor that I was getting too fat

I signed up with an exercise class where they work out on a mat.

The instructor told me to wear loose fitting clothes,

'cause this is the place where everything shows.

Well, if I had clothes that were loose fitting

I wouldn't have signed up for an exercise class,

I would have stayed home sitting".

This week's reminders are:

1) Tuesday, May 21, 9 a.m. Welcome back Boggle Snowbirds.

2) Saturday, May 25, 9:30 a.m. Kinettes annual yard sale on the Village Green. Call Marg 286-1171 or Sheila 286-3295 for info.

3) "Elijah" by the Messiah Choir is performed 7:30 pm at the Haliburton Legion on Saturday May 25 and at Archie Stouffer Elementary School, May 26.

Everyone should take a lesson from the weather. It pays no attention to criticism.

The Museum Committee will meet again on Tuesday, May 28 at 10 a.m. in the Common Room of the Culture Centre.

Do you have a baby monitor in good working order that you are no longer using? S.I.R.C.H. Community Hospice Program for Haliburton County could sure use the donation. Please call Betty Pollard 705-457-1742 ext. 26 or Dorothy Owens at ext. 22.

The Customer Service Award for this week goes to Janet in the IDA.

Happy Birthday wishes to the girls of Hyland Crest Seniors Home: Alice Rivers and Beatrice Britain, both on May 21; Jean Taylor, May 22 and Corinne Bonneville, May 27.

A child's greatest period of growth is the month after you've purchased new school clothes.

There will be a tree planting ceremony, in memory of Verne Graham, organized by the Minden and District Horticultural Society on Saturday, June 1 at 2 p.m. at the County Town Museum and Pioneer Centre.

Heartfelt sympathy to the family and friends of Iva Hadley, Fred Olan and Grey Anderson who passed away recently.

Card games and goings on in the community: (Everyone is invited to join in anytime)

• Euchre, 1:30 p.m. Mondays at St. Paul's Friendship Club. On May 13, Nancy Gayton won the 50-50 draw, Pearl Cowan had the most lone hands and Gladys Wruth and Verna McDonald won the high score. They were delighted to see a new visitor and a new player last week.

• Euchre, 7:30 p.m. Mondays at Club 35 (9 km north of Carnarvon) where partners are not needed. On May 13, Milt Fletcher won the 50-50 draw; Gala Stamp, most lone hands; Norm Lee and Edith Russell, the high score. They will hold a "wheels-to-meals" dinner there at noon, Tuesday, May 21.

• Contract bridge, 1 p.m. Tuesdays at the Stanhope Library. Partners are not required here either. Last week, Russ Fair was first with an outstanding score of 7180. I believe that score is unprecedented. Earl Hayne came in second with Helen Rice third. Three small slams were bid and made as well.

• Bid euchre for seniors, 1:30 p.m. Tuesdays at the Minden Legion. Last week, the high scores were won by Ida Young, Grace Dixon and Mary Colman, the hidden score by Howard Smith and moonshots by Kay Smith, Marcel Rousselle and Norm Lee.

• Euchre, 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays at either the Gelert or Lochlin Community Centres. On May 14 the party was in Gelert and this week it's in Lochlin, next week in Gelert and so on.

• Bid euchre, 7 p.m. Wednesdays at the Stanhope Firehall.

• Euchre, 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays in Moore Falls at the Noble Motel. On May 15 the high score went to Pat Rousselle, second high to Ken Young and most lone hands to Freda Boyce.

• Euchre, 7:15 p.m. Thursdays at the Minden Legion. On May 9, high score went to May Bradbury and Bev Johnson; most lone hands by Jack Chilton and Thelma Francis; low score to Jean Scadden and Ann Baker

Congratulations are in order to Irene Moore as Diane Azalea finally arrived, Irene's great-granddaughter, daughter of Stephen and Ann Brydson and a granddaughter for Helen and Al Brydson.

Health Corner

Helpful hints for a healthy back continued from three weeks ago.

Working - Standing:

Try to avoid fatigue caused by work requiring long periods of standing. Flex hips and knees by placing a foot on a stool or bench. Avoid standing with excessive lordosis (too much of a hollow in the low back). This position strains the small joints of the back causing fatigue. Performing the pelvic tilt while standing also relieves fatigue.

Working - Stooping:

If working in a stooped position for prolonged periods, then interrupt posture on a regular basis by standing upright and bending backwards 6 times.

Driving:

Use a firm seat with a padded pillow or special seat support. Sit close to the wheel with knees bent. Don't have the seat back so far that your legs are straight. On long trips, stop every 1-2 hours and walk to relieve tension and relax muscles. Often times arching backwards helps to alleviate low back pain. More next week.

CARDS OF THANKS

We would like to express our heartfelt thank-yous to family and friends following the recent loss of our father and grandfather. Your prayers, kind words, offers of assistance, food, floral tributes, cards and charitable donations overwhelmed us. A special thank you to Reverend Peter Walford-Davis, Minden UCW, Gary and Randy of Minden Ambulance, the doctors, nurses and staff of Minden and Ross Memorial Hospital and the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home for your care and professionalism. To the Municipality of Anson-Hindon and Minden for remembering.

Gloria, Larry, Maxine, Corbie and Jaime Kent.

On behalf of my family, I would like to thank some very special people who helped me so much during the recent loss of my beloved Husband, Bob. The ambulance drivers who came out at 5 a.m. on a very bad night; Trevor, who sanded the hill so the ambulance could get out; Terry and Pat who came quickly to Haliburton and every week for two months to Peterborough to pray with Bob. Great neighbours who checked on my place and took such good care of "Rusty". Carol and Gary who took me one night late to Peterborough and Katie and Fern who came to pick me up. For all the cards, calls and prayers that were made and sent. For all the beautiful flowers and memoriams that were sent to Monk's and Scott's Funeral Homes. To the wonderful nurses that took such good care of Bob and me and especially the nurses of 3-D and I.C.U. To the staff at Monk's and Scott's, especially Kirsten who helped me and made everything as easy as possible at such a time. I thank my wonderful family for their great love and support for their dad and myself during the time Bob was ill. Their support continues. I am truly blessed to have a family like you.

Grey had a unique way of leaving something of himself behind with every person with whom he came in contact and for this reason he will be sorely missed by many, especially Peter, Bill and Pat. A very special thank you to Dr. Marc Chayer for his gentle, caring attentive manner which meant so much to Grey. Following cremation, a private family memorial service will be held. Donations to memory of Grey can be made to the Children's Wish Foundation.

Margaret is survived and fondly remembered by her son Ian, her daughter-in-law Ina, and her grandchildren, Courtney and James who were the true loves of her life. She is predeceased by her parents Agnes and William Gow and her brother William and her sister Kate, all of Dundee, Scotland. She will be sadly missed by her sister, Agnes Wilkins of Ottawa, her brother Bert of Alyth, Scotland, and her many other relatives and friends. The family would like to thank those kind souls in Minden who assisted and comforted Margaret in the difficult days as the disease took its toll. In accordance with her wishes, there will be no funeral. Margaret has chosen to be cremated and returned to rest in Scotland. Donations in her name can be made to The Princess Margaret Hospital Lodge for out-of-town visitors in Toronto or to the Lions Club of Minden. From the kids, "Good-bye Granny.
